

FINAL REPORT

Of the 61st

Wyoming Legislature

WYOMING HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION

MARCH 2011

MEMO FROM THE PRESIDENT

Members of the Wyoming Hospital Association:

For the third consecutive year, discussions of healthcare reform—both at the national and state level—dominated the healthcare debate at the Wyoming Legislature. As lawmakers in Washington and Wyoming continued to grapple with the implications of the federal reforms, the Wyoming Hospital Association successfully protected our state’s hospitals from measures that could have thwarted reforms that are still in their infancy.

At the same time, the WHA prevented the enactment of measures that would have complicated the operation and governance in our hospitals. From that perspective, the 61st Wyoming Legislature was a very successful session.

As you will see in this report, legislators worked to improve the management of key state programs such as Medicaid, while simultaneously fighting federal initiatives. Lawmakers considered, for example, bills that would have funded lawsuits filed against the federal government on behalf of the state, and that would have made it illegal to enforce provisions of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Despite the relative health of the state budget, the Legislature decided against gubernatorial recommendations to increase funding for Medicaid, and they dramatically reduced funding for state-based reform programs, such as Healthy Frontiers. Aside from technical moves to increase the transparency of state Medicaid spending, legislators approved a $256 million supplemental budget bill that left Medicaid essentially as they found it, and that left the specter of provider cuts on the table.

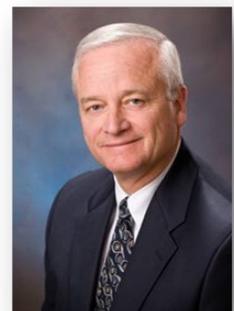

Nevertheless, key Medicaid-related items did pass, including studies of the program’s structure and costs. The WHA will play a key role in those interim studies and discussions to help ensure that whatever emerges at the end of the summer is mindful of the needs of hospitals and retains appropriate support for the services you provide.

In the following pages, you will find a summary of the Legislature’s work on healthcare-related issues of interest to Wyoming’s hospitals. Additionally, it includes a description of the topics that key committees will consider during the interim in preparation for the 2012 Budget Session. We hope you find it to be an informative, valuable tool.

Finally, we want to thank you for your engagement and support of our legislative efforts. Your voice—as always— is essential to our success in working with the Legislature.

Respectfully,

Dan Perdue
President
Wyoming Hospital Association

As lawmakers in Washington and Wyoming continued to grapple with the implications of the federal reforms, the Wyoming Hospital Association successfully protected our state’s hospitals from measures that could have thwarted reforms that are still in their infancy.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY—INTRODUCTION

The General Session of the 61st Wyoming Legislature convened on January 11 and ended on March 3. During the 37-day session, legislators introduced some 432 bills, passing 204 of them. Although legislative leaders said ‘social issues’ bills occupied only a small percentage of the total debate, bills relating to abortion and same-sex marriage dominated headlines throughout the session, and even garnered national attention from MSNBC. Beyond those and a number of healthcare-related items, the Legislature passed a $256 million supplemental budget that will continue to fund state services in anticipation of next year’s 20-day budget session.

HEALTHCARE REFORM

Wyoming legislators continued in 2011 to try to push back against the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act with a number of pieces of legislation aimed at asserting the rights of Wyoming citizens. Most such bills ultimately failed, but the debate made clear that Wyoming’s Legislature—the most conservative in the country—will continue to resist federal efforts to reform the healthcare system.

HEALTHCARE CHOICE AND PROTECTION ACT

Perhaps the fullest assault on the Affordable Care Act came in the form of House Bill 35, a measure that would have made it illegal in Wyoming to enforce certain provisions of the federal reform law. Sponsored by a number of the Legislature’s more conservative members, the bill would have declared the PPACA unconstitutional, and it would have created criminal penalties for individuals and companies that implemented it. More specifically, the bill attempted to fight the federal mandate for individuals to purchase health insurance.

Opponents argued that firms have little choice but to prepare for and begin the implementation of the federal law. Others claimed that the Affordable Care Act includes provisions that will improve the healthcare landscape, including the very mandate that is intended to expand coverage. The bill passed the House of Representatives, but it failed in the Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee in the Senate.

HEALTH LITIGATION FUND

The Joint Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee sponsored a similar bill, House Bill 39, that would have created a fund specifically to pay for lawsuits against the federal government. Initially, the bill included $2 million to fight elements of the ACA, but that amount was reduced to $500,000. In the end, the bill passed the House, but failed on its first reading in the Senate.

HEALTH CARE FREEDOM—JOINT RESOLUTION

The most meaningful anti-reform effort came in the form of Senate Joint Resolution 2, a measure that will attempt to amend the Wyoming Constitution. Essentially, the resolution would add a section to the Constitution specifying that no federal or state law can compel any person, employer, or healthcare provider to participate in any healthcare system. This measure mirrored the general opposition to a federal mandate, and as a Constitutional amendment, has the potential to become quite significant and quite difficult to reverse.

The resolution passed the Legislature. It will now be formulated as a ballot measure for consideration by the voters in the 2012 elections. A two-thirds majority of voters will be required for the resolution to ultimately amend the Constitution. If voters do approve the measure, the state can no doubt expect additional arguments about the supremacy of federal law.

The debate made clear that Wyoming’s Legislature—the most conservative in the country—will continue to resist federal efforts to reform the healthcare system.

MEDICAID REVIEW AND OVERSIGHT

At the state level, controlling Medicaid costs was a key focus for both the Legislature and Gov. Matt Mead. The state Medicaid office projected a deficit of more than $20 million in the Medicaid budget, and that forecast drove lawmakers to look for ways to improve planning and control costs. At least three bills attempted to do that in different ways.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH REORGANIZATION

In an effort to get a handle on Medicaid budget issues, the Legislature passed a bill that allows the Governor to appoint the State Medicaid Agent. Historically, this position has been housed in the Department of Health and has served at the pleasure of the Director of the Department of Health. Gov. Mead and a number of legislators believed this move would provide the Governor with greater control over Medicaid forecasting, budgeting, and spending. Although this portion of the bill survived, a proposal to move the Department's Chief Financial Officer into the Governor's office did not pass.

The bill also authorizes the Department of Health to develop a plan for the reorganization of the Department and all programs that provide Medicaid servicers. If the plan will require legislation, it is to be presented to the Joint Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee by November 15, 2011, for consideration during the 2012 Budget Session.

HB215—Key Features

- ◇ Creates a State Medicaid Agent who will be appointed by the Governor
- ◇ Authorizes the Department of Health to create a plan for reorganization of the Department
- ◇ Requires a report by November in the event that legislation will be required for the reorganization
- ◇ Appropriates $100,000 from the General Fund to hire a consultant to conduct the reorganization study

MEDICAID OPTIONS AND COST STUDIES

In keeping with the theme of controlling Medicaid costs, the Legislature approved two bills that will study the structure and costs of the program to identify opportunities for improvement. The first bill, Senate File 50, will create an oversight committee to study the cost of redesigning the current Medicaid program, as well as costs mandated by federal healthcare reform. The law specifically requires the study of certain alternatives, including innovative delivery systems, limitations of benefits, cost-sharing, alternative financing, private insurance, managed care, and Medicaid waiver programs. Although there is little support for opting out of the federal Medicaid program, the bill nevertheless specifies that the study should be used to help decide whether to continue the state program under federal reforms, as well as to help prepare cost estimates for reconfiguring the program.

The second bill, Senate File 102, requires a study of the cost of expanding Medicaid eligibility as mandated by federal healthcare reform. The study will consider cost-sharing scenarios, as well as the effect on costs of changing utilization rates, the effect of cost controls, the impact of people who intentionally reduce their income to become Medicaid eligible, and the effect of benefit changes for those who are currently eligible, among others. The study is to be completed by September 2012 and reported to the Joint Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee before the 2013 General Session.

MEDICAID RATE FREEZE AMENDMENT DIES

Among the Medicaid-related efforts that did not survive the session was a budget amendment that would have lifted the freeze on Medicaid rates. The amendment was carried by two key members of the House leadership, Rep. Tom Lubnau, R-Gillette, and Rep. Ed Buchanan, R-Torrington.

Simply, the amendment would have removed the prohibition on rate increases, and would therefore have allowed the Department of Health to consider raising Medicaid rates. Sponsored as it was by two members of the House leadership, it passed the House of Representatives during the debate on a flurry of budget amendments. The issue failed in the Senate, however, where senators worried that it would create a long-term obligation in Medicaid that could not currently be known. Senators simply did not find that palatable at a time when so much effort was being expended to control Medicaid spending.

Although the amendment failed, its introduction provided a platform for discussion about the need to reconsider Medicaid rates, and it signaled an understanding on the part of legislators that these rates are an important part of improving healthcare in Wyoming when a significant payor—the state—underpays for the services it receives. Medicaid rates will also be part of interim studies of the structure and cost of the Medicaid program.

MEDICAID REVIEW AND OVERSIGHT

MEDICAID FRAUD RECOVERY BILL FAILS

Still another Medicaid-related bill attempted to create the Medicaid False Claims Act, which would have allowed the state to sue to recover money for falsely filed Medicaid claims. Again, in an attempt to control Medicaid spending, legislators believed that more aggressive fraud policies could help control costs. The bill was adamantly opposed by a number of organizations, including Pharma, the Wyoming Medical Society, and the Wyoming Hospital Association, among others, largely because it appeared to create a potential bonanza for lawyers seeking to sue under the newly created Act. The bill passed the Senate, but it failed in the House Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee.

HEALTHCARE MANAGEMENT ISSUES

In addition to its efforts related to healthcare reform and Medicaid, the Legislature also considered a number of measures that would impact the ways in which Wyoming’s hospitals—and other entities—are managed. Some of those bills sought, ostensibly, to create greater transparency in the ways that public entities operate, while others fell into the much-debated ‘social issues’ category.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND PUBLIC RECORDS BILLS DEFEATED

Driven largely by the Wyoming Press Association, the Legislature debated two separate but companion bills that were intended to require increased transparency among governmental entities. House Bill 120 would have added new requirements regarding the announcement of public meetings, and, more importantly, would have required the boards of governmental entities to record their executive sessions. If an executive session were challenged, a judge would have reviewed the recording in private to determine if any part of the meeting had violated current open meetings law. House Bill 121 would have required public entities to fulfill requests for public records within three to seven days, and it would have prohibited those entities from charging for the production of public records.

The Wyoming Hospital Association opposed both bills for a number of reasons. The WHA argued that the Open Meetings bill created a presumption of guilt for public boards and would have made it even more difficult to find qualified, willing people to serve on those boards. Moreover, the bill would have had a chilling effect on important board discussions that are appropriately held in private. The Public Records bill, the WHA argued, would have allowed for open-ended fishing expeditions that could be very time consuming and expensive. The WHA was joined in its opposition by the Wyoming Association of Municipalities, the Quality Health Care Foundation of Wyoming, the County Commissioners Association, the Wyoming Association of Community College Trustees, and others.

Ultimately, both bills died in the Senate. Both will be the subjects of an interim study by the Joint Judiciary Committee, and the WHA will closely monitor and participate in those discussions.

LEGISLATURE PASSES CONCEALED CARRY LAW

Sen. Kit Jennings, R-Casper

After significant debate in both houses, the Legislature passed Senate File 47, sponsored primarily by Sen. Kit Jennings, R-Casper, a bill that allows for the concealed carry of firearms without a permit. Naturally, lawmakers built many of their arguments on the freedoms guaranteed in the Second Amendment in claiming that the state should not limit a person’s right to carry a firearm. Though there are exceptions in state law regarding where any firearms can be carried, the new concealed carry law did not include any additional exceptions. As a result, there is no restriction on a person’s ability to carry a concealed gun into a hospital.

The Wyoming Hospital Association and others strongly opposed the measure, using well-known information about the nature of workplace violence in healthcare facilities, as well as pointing out the danger such a law might pose for healthcare workers in an emergency room environment. Indeed, an amendment that would have allowed hospitals to regulate concealed carry failed in the House. Nevertheless, the bill passed and was signed into law by the Governor.

HEALTHCARE MANAGEMENT ISSUES

REMOVAL OF COUNTY HOSPITAL BOARD TRUSTEES

With the passage of House Bill 211, trustees on county memorial hospital boards can be removed for just cause without a hearing. Those trustees are appointed by the County Commissioners, and they can now be removed by the County Commissioners. No hearing is necessary under the new law, unless the trustee being removed requests a hearing.

The measure was meant to create consistency in the powers of the County Commissioners: they have the ability to appoint trustees, but before the enactment of this law, they did not have the power to remove trustees. Additionally, the bill also creates consistency with other similar statutes.

ABORTION BILL FAILS—TWICE

A bill that generated considerable discussion—and filled the House gallery with lobbyists and onlookers—would have required physicians to let pregnant women know they have a right to see an ultrasound and hear the heartbeat before an abortion is performed. If the woman were more than 20 weeks pregnant, the bill would also have required the physician to provide her with information about fetal pain.

The bill failed in its first attempt. In a somewhat rare legislative action, the bill was adjusted slightly and introduced a second time for additional debate. Rather than being sent to the House Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee, it was referred to the House Education Committee, where it passed. Regardless, the bill failed in the House on its second attempt.

WHA DEFEATS ADMITTING PRIVILEGES BILL

The WHA argued successfully against a bill that would have extended hospital admitting privileges to advanced practice nurses. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Charles Scott, R-Casper, was introduced for the second consecutive year.

The 2011 version of the bill included provisions meant to alleviate concerns about the conditions of participation in Medicare, as well as hospitals' ability to govern privileging through their bylaws.

Despite efforts by a number of groups to develop a more palatable compromise bill, in the end, neither hospitals nor physicians were comfortable with legislation that seemed to mandate the expansion of admitting privileges.

OTHER HEALTHCARE LEGISLATION

PRIMARY CARE SUPPORT PROGRAM

One effort to improve primary care was House Bill 49, a measure that sought to provide funding for capital construction and the start-up costs of community health centers and rural health clinics. Sponsored by the Joint Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee, the bill originally included a $10 million appropriation to match federal dollars in helping get the centers and clinics up and running. Through the course of the legislative process, however, that amount was reduced to $1 million.

Grants from the Primary Care Support Program will be administered by the Department of Health, and in order to receive a grant, requesters must have an operating plan that integrates with other community health services and promotes access to care. The grant application must be approved by the county commissioners before it is submitted to the Department. A 25 percent local match is required, and grant recipients must serve low-income people in an underserved area.

HEALTHY FRONTIERS PROGRAM EXTENDED

A state-based healthcare reform project that was first approved in 2010 was extended during this year's legislative session, with some modifications. The Healthy Frontiers program is designed to provide preventive healthcare, health savings accounts, and health insurance to a limited number of low-income, working families in Wyoming.

Senate File 139, extends a $750,000 appropriation for the program through June 2012, and it includes provisions for educating enrollees about the program, as well as a provision for forfeiture of personal savings accounts if enrollees leave the program within four months of enrolling.

NURSE FOR A DAY PROGRAM

THANKS TO OUR NURSE FOR A DAY VOLUNTEERS

The Legislative Session occurs at the height of cold and flu season, and legislators, staffers, and visitors are therefore quite thankful for the WHA's Nurse for a Day Program. Since 1980, volunteer nurses have provided high-quality nursing care in the Capitol building. The WHA is proud that our nurses are introduced on the floor of the Senate and House each day, and we appreciate the contribution of their time and skills during the session.

We would like to thank the nurses and their employers for their participation in the program:

Lynne LaRose – St. John's Medical Center, Jackson

Karen Petrozella – St. John's Medical Center, Jackson

Toma Nisbet – Cheyenne

Samantha English – Wyoming Medical Center, Casper

Deanna Hedlund – Wyoming Medical Center, Casper

Connie Jacobson – Casper

Ann Davin – Wyoming Medical Center, Casper

Penny Iekel – Sheridan VA

Parry Davison – South Lincoln Medical Center, Kemmerer

Annette Cantlin – Wyoming State Hospital, Evanston

Lauri Morgan – Wyoming State Hospital, Evanston

Betsy Hartman – Cheyenne

Anne Raga – Campbell County Memorial Hospital, Gillette

Heidi Loucks – Casper College

Linda Clamp – Wyoming Medical Center, Casper

Deb Lane – Wyoming Medical Center, Casper

Jamie Mathews – Northwest Community College, Powell

GRASSROOTS ADVOCACY

A hospital CEO's voice is critical to the success of any of WHA's lobbying efforts, and we truly appreciate your time and effort in reaching out to legislators during the session to help them understand the impact of the bills they were debating.

Thank you for your engagement. Our successes simply would not have happened without it.

The WHA appreciates the contribution of time and skills that our Nurse For A Day volunteers make during the Legislative Session.

INTERIM COMMITTEE TOPICS

Near the end of each Legislative session, each committee meets to determine its priorities for study during the interim period. The Joint Health, Labor, and Social Services Committee typically deals with issues of interest to the WHA, though others, including the Joint Appropriations Committee and the Joint Judiciary Committee, are expected to consider healthcare-related topics.

Following are the prioritized topics that the Joint Labor, Health, and Social Service Committee expects to study:

PRIORITY 1—RESPONSE TO FEDERAL INITIATIVES

The committee's jurisdiction includes areas that require state response to federal legislative or regulatory initiatives. Such areas include healthcare reform, Medicaid studies, health insurance exchanges, mental health parity, and healthcare provider recruitment. The committee will monitor and respond as needed to federal initiatives. The committee will also study Medicaid entitlements and programs in order to better understand the program, federally mandated changes, and Medicaid options and alternatives.

PRIORITY 2—ASSIGNMENTS FROM 2011 LEGISLATION

The committee is assigned to follow up on new legislation, including the Department of Employment/Workforce Services merger, the Department of Health reorganization study, Insurance Commission interstate compacts, at-will state executive employees, and long-term care choices.

PRIORITY 3—COST CONTAINMENT EFFORTS

The committee will investigate cost containment efforts through all of the programs under its jurisdiction, including Medicaid oversight, fraud prevention and eligibility processes; the Healthy Frontiers Program review; public health nursing funding; eldercare; economic analysis of state institutions; and technology implementation in telemedicine/telehealth, electronic patient records, and dissemination of health studies and resource information.

PRIORITY 4—OVERSIGHT HEARINGS

The committee will conduct general oversight hearings regarding the Department of Health and customer satisfaction feedback, funding for critical access hospitals, the Board of Medicine's implementation of physician licensure improvements, and the Wyoming Cancer Control Act.

INTERIM COMMITTEE SCHEDULE

The Joint Labor, Health, and Social Services Committee will meet three times during the interim to study and discuss the topics outlined above. Following is the committee's tentative interim meeting schedule:

- ◇ May 9 and 10
Evanston, WY
- ◇ October 10—October 12
Casper, WY
- ◇ December 7—December 9
Cheyenne, WY

Specific locations and meeting agendas will be available at <http://legisweb.state.wy.us> as the meeting dates approach.
