On behalf of the Wyoming Hospital Association and our 33 members and LeadingAge Wyoming and our 29 members, we welcome you to the capital city of Cheyenne for this year’s annual Meeting and Convention.

It is our shared goal to have the Wyoming Hospital Association and LeadingAge Wyoming be the leading source for information and serve as the voice of healthcare in Wyoming.

This event provides an ideal opportunity to be together and learn from one another. The agenda has been created in such a way to enhance our time, and ensure we are covering topics of critical importance to our work. We thank our board of directors and all of our members who participated in developing this week’s sessions. It is our belief this line up of presenters and networking opportunities will energize and motivate, while providing concrete ideas to take back to your facilities and put into motion.

We hope you will take time to visit with our vast array of vendors, without whom this convention would not be possible. If your facility is in need of an improved or new product or service, we believe these vendors will be able to assist, and we are grateful to them for their support. We also hope you will join us Wednesday evening for our awards banquet as we honor individuals and facilities that will be receiving awards for their outstanding performance and delivery of care.

We are appreciative to you for your attendance and support. Enjoy your time here in Cheyenne. Have a great convention. We hope you will return home reenergized and inspired with new ideas after participating in our convention.

Tradeshow

Your time is more valuable than ever, so make the most of it by investing it in the WHA trade show. Plan your schedule to allow time in the Exhibit Hall, where you’re sure to find a broad array of products and services that can enhance patient care, cut costs, and increase revenue. This year’s show features the latest tools and technologies in architecture, medical equipment, billing solutions, information management, and media.

Why should you visit Wyoming’s largest healthcare trade show?

- Renew acquaintances with long-time suppliers and meet new companies.
- Learn about new technologies, products, and services.
- Visit many suppliers in one convenient location.
- Take home leads about services that can benefit your hospital.
- Thank our vendors—their fees cover more than half of the convention expenses!

And of course...Prizes! Prizes! Prizes!

We’ll have prize drawings in the Exhibit Hall at the start of the Annual Chairman’s Reception. Be sure to visit the Exhibit Hall at 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, September 4 to honor WHA Chairman Mike McCafferty and win prizes!

Developing People to deliver excellent patient-centered care

Like many community hospitals across the country, Sheridan Memorial Hospital (SMH) operates in an uncertain healthcare environment that is compounded by burdensome regulations and decreased payments for the services it provides for the community. To better position itself as an organization that delivers excellent care to patients despite these challenges, SMH saw the importance of aligning its strategic goals with the everyday work of its employees. As a result, SMH embarked on a journey to transform its management system by adopting the principles of Lean management. Lean is a time-tested way of thinking that focuses on standardized methods for continuous improvement and providing value to the patient. SMH sees Lean management as a philosophy consistent with its values of putting patients first and respect for its employees’ need to have satisfying and meaningful work.

This presentation is the story of the experiments, successes, and the challenges as SMH transforms its culture by implementing a Lean management system. This presentation also focuses on how to apply Lean concepts and tools in your organization, and includes a panel session to answer any questions you might have about how to implement Lean in your organization. This presentation includes:

- How SMH stabilizes its operations by implementing a huddle system to drive problem solving and employee engagement at the frontlines.
- Strategy deployment techniques to align your organization’s strategic objectives to the daily work of your employees.
- Accelerating process improvement by adopting a value stream approach to remove waste from your processes and provide value to your patients.
- Leader Standard Work- Are you doing the right work to drive your organizational objectives? Find out how to align daily work across the leadership spectrum to drive organizational metrics
- Lead your employees through change by applying change management principles, and learn how to re-invigorate your workforce by hearing first-hand stories from SMH leaders who are driving change.

Walk Ride Rodeo—Maybe you saw her story on Netflix

On January 10th, 2010 Amberley was on her way to the Denver Stock Show and Rodeo. As she was passing through Sinclair, WY she took a look down at her map. After only seconds she looked up and realized she had faded into the other lane, headed towards a metal beam. In an effort to get back in her lane, Amberley overcorrected. Her truck slid off the road and rolled and she was ejected from the vehicle. She was slammed into a fence post that broke her back and immediately she lost feeling in her legs.

After five hours of emergency surgery the doctor’s prognosis was she would never regain use or feeling below her waist. He told her if she had worn her seatbelt, she would still have use of her legs. The one mistake she made that day changed her life forever, but it has not defeated her competitive spirit. The top priority for Amberley was not even to walk, but to ride her horses again. Remarkably after only 4 months after the accident, she was back on her horse. Through all the challenges and adversity Amberley has had to face, it hasn’t stopped her from achieving any of her goals. In May of 2015 Amberley graduated college with a Bachelor’s degree in Agriculture Education. In 2018, she earned her Master’s Degree in School Counseling from Utah State University. Amberley’s hard work ethic hasn’t wavered, and one could argue has even gotten stronger. After the accident Amberley realized she had a unique opportunity to reach out and inspire people with her unconventional situation. Her first step to that was her Wheel Chair Wednesday’s video segments on social media. She would perform everyday tasks that have now become more challenging, but not impossible, after her accident. These range from how she gets on her horse to how she fills her truck up with fuel and her short videos have become a popular fan favorite on social media resulting in nearly 200K fans on Facebook.

Amberley now is inspiring thousands across America by telling her inspirational story and competing in rodeos across the western United States. She has let the challenges she faces refine her, not define her.
D.I.R.T. Dangerous Individual Recognition Training®

The ultimate corporate team building and trust developing workshop with employee personal safety at its heart.

Recent events have proven that a threat can originate anywhere, and if an attack is to be stopped before it begins, then it must first be identified. The ability to recognize dangerous individuals is the responsibility of every citizen and once mastered can be utilized anywhere, regardless of the environment.

Terry Vaughan's D.I.R.T. Dangerous Individual Recognition Training™ provides a comprehensive step-by-step guide to identifying dangerous individuals based upon 21 body language clues before the situation escalates.

Personal safety skills to make health care professionals safer at work, home, or play.

Terry’s engaging workshop will improve how to screen individuals & recognize pre-violence body language signals as early as possible.

Curriculum:
Normalcy Bias - How to maximize attentiveness & identify dangerous signals
Spacial Utilization - The significance of distance & position in terms of threat assessment
Facial Expressions - Identifying specific expressions of attitude & emotions
Head Movement & Gestures - Interpreting non-verbal clues to indifference & aggression

SHORT BIOGRAPHY:
Terry is an international speaker, author, body language and personal safety expert, and former British Royal Marine Commando, an elite branch of Her Majesty’s Royal Navy. He is the author of the popular book, NOT WITH MY DAUGHTER! A Dad’s Guide to Screening Dates and Boyfriends. In addition, he was a competitor on season 4 of History Channel’s television show TOP SHOT, and a host for GUNTV.

“How Can I Help You?”:
Managing Employee Health Conditions from Hiring through Termination

Brad Cave and Laurie Rogers
Holland & Hart LLP

Employee health issues continue to challenge employers. From complying with the leave requirements of the Family and Medical Leave Act to the interactive process under the Americans With Disabilities Act, managing the ill or injured employee requires a solid understanding of the legal hurdles, keen attention to detail, and a good strategy for resolution. Throw in the ins-and-outs of the workers’ compensation process when an employee is injured at work, and things get even more complicated. And, finally, for healthcare employers, HIPAA requires that you and your employee always know whether you are acting or speaking as employer or provider. This year’s WHA HR Bootcamp will focus on unraveling the compliance and management issues when your employees make their health issues your issues. Brad Cave and Laurie Rogers will discuss medical certification challenges, effective use of recertifications, employee notice requirements, what supervisors and HR personnel should be trained to say and document in response to employee requests for reasonable accommodations, what technically triggers the interactive process, when accommodations are not required, what type of medical information may be requested from an employee, HIPAA-specific requirements, and much more.
Making the Most out of Millennials

More than 1 in 3 employees in the US are millennials

Attracting, hiring, and retaining people in this age group poses special opportunities and challenges. The best organizations find ways to integrate Millennials with employees of other ages, experience levels, communication preferences, and career aspirations. In this interactive session, we’ll discuss ways you can better understand and work with this dynamic, valuable, and growing part of our workforce.

Based in Wyoming, Elevate Wyoming brings the experience and resources to help develop and improve the people side of business in our state. Elevate Wyoming is dedicated to contributing value and creating a positive difference for others.

Leveraging Decision Support to Drive Action

Speaker: Josh Goodman with Strata Decision Technology

L7 allows healthcare organizations to assess their current state relative to available costing methodologies and provides a roadmap for their strategic needs. This eight-stage model assesses organizations by measuring the adoption and utilization of advanced cost accounting methods, including capabilities like Time-Driven Costing™. As an organization moves up the model, they acquire more sophisticated costing processes and workflows and more meaningful output. Josh Goodman, Consulting Manager at Strata Decision Technology will cover the following points during this hour long session:

• What is the Strata L7 Cost Accounting Adoption Model?
• Introduction to the self-assessment tool
• Outputs of the tool
• How to develop a Strata L7 Roadmap

Cybersecurity at Work—Securing Your Personal Device

Chief Security Officer Michael Mercer from FBI Denver Division will present the attendees with information related to securing their personal devices and information. In addition, the CSO Mercer will discuss malicious programs, browser and smartphone security settings, phishing emails and other cyber security related material.
Accounting Standards Update:

Whether a governmental or nonprofit facility, significant accounting changes are on the horizon. The hot topics in accounting center on revenue recognition, lease accounting, and nonprofit financial presentation. These are generational changes, and their impact is still being understood. They will create challenges, opportunities and probably even some early retirements. In addition to these monumental updates, FASB, GASB and others continue to refine guidance in areas ranging from organizational structure to investments to financial statement presentation and disclosures. The health care industry will be fully impacted by most, if not all, of these changes due to its unique nature. This session will cover not only the basic principles of accounting changes that will impact your organization, but will also cover the direct and indirect effects, including practical considerations you will not get from just reading the standards.

Learning objectives:
• Discuss the upcoming or recently effective accounting standards changes that are relevant to your organization

Dave Studebaker, CPA, Audit Senior Manager Eide Bailly LLP
Dave has fifteen years audit experience providing services to a variety of industries, specializing in audits of nonprofit and governmental healthcare organizations. He serves on the Board of Directors of two Denver nonprofits and is a member of the firm’s National Assurance Office and currently serves on the firm’s

Changes in Rules for Licensure
Wyoming Board of Nursing Home Administrators

Maxie Cordova, Executive Director

Maxie Cordova is a native of Wyoming, who moved to Cheyenne in 2008 and started working for the State of Wyoming as a Licensing Specialist. On August 20, 2017 she took the position of Executive Director for the State Board of Nursing Home Administrators.
